U.S. Army's "Soldier Show" Performs at Barker Theater, POM Annex Sept. 23

The U.S. Army Soldier Show with Jack Ford at NBC's Today Show.

POM ANNEX - The U.S. Army Soldier Show will be performing at Barker Theater on the POM Annex from 8-9:30 p.m. Sept. 23. Doors will open at 7 p.m. Admission is free. Originating in 1913 and given the name Army Soldier Show, in 1983 it became the modern U.S. Army Soldier Show because of the outgrowth of soldier talent shows at various commands.

FREE ADMISSION

Note: Active-duty soldiers will have first priority for attendees. The Directorate of Morale, Welfare and Recreation will provide bus transportation for single soldiers living in the barracks.

The Soldier Show entertains the military community, especially the soldier.

Sgt. Irving Berlin conceived and directed the first performance in 1918. The original motto, "Entertainment for the soldier, by the soldier," still exists today. The 31-member cast and crew will perform more than 100 shows in 22 states and travel to European military bases.

Barker theater can accommodate up to 830 people seated, and the fire department will allow people to stand in the aisles by the walls as long as they don't block exits.

Col. Beauvais reassigned, DLIFLC bids him farewell

Air Force Col. Eugene Beauvais, DLIFLC assistant commandant, is being reassigned to the Pentagon. Before he and his family left the Presidio of Monterey, DLIFLC staff and faculty honored him with a farewell reception at Weckerling Center Aug. 18.

Lt. Col. Roderic Gale, associate provost and dean of students, will serve as assistant commandant until Beauvais' replacement arrives later this year.

During his two years at DLIFLC, Beauvais supported the Faculty Personnel System and helped mediate contract negotiations between the staff, faculty and the National Federation of Federal Employees union.

He wanted teachers to take more courses, smaller teaching teams and recommended the Institute begin a semester school year. He fully supported the school's mission of training military linguists and language programs in the field, according to his colleagues.

As the senior Air Force officer, he encouraged the 311th Training Squadron's Smart Start language program for new airmen before they started their actual classes.

"I appreciated his friendship, leadership, guidance and mentoring other officers," said Col. Daniel Devlin, DLIFLC commandant and DLIFLC and POM commander.

GOVERNMENT TRAVEL CARD PROGRAM

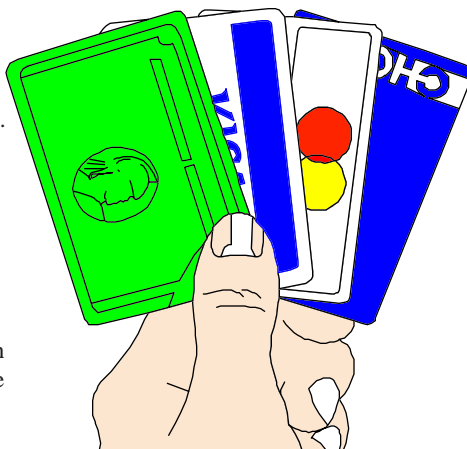

AMERICAN EXPRESS VS. VISA

Effective 12:01a.m., Nov. 30, the NationsBank (VISA) will take over all American Express (AMEX) travel accounts. AMEX will continue to be the primary means of funding for "official travel" expenses until Midnight., Nov. 29. Subsequently, AMEX card will be substituted with Visa credit card. NationsBank has a wide merchant acceptance, cash access and a willingness to meet DoD needs.

NationsBank will start issuing the VISA card in an inactive mode to cardholders that are in good standing with AMEX on Oct. 1. The VISA card will be activated Nov. 30. Prior to Nov. 30 cardholders receiving new cards will be instructed to call NationsBank via a toll free number to verify receipt of their cards. Cardholders will be asked to enter their account number and card activation PIN, which will be sent via regular mail nine days after cards are issued. All cards will then be activated at one time and ready to use at 12:01a.m. on Nov. 30. Cards issued after the start of the new contract will be activated immediately after a cardholder calls to verify receipt.

During the transition period:

- Travelers will be required to carry the AMEX and NationsBank cards. The AMEX card will be used until 12a.m. Nov. 29, NationsBank card will be used thereafter. Issuance of the AMEX card will be avoided after Nov. 1. If cards must be issued, careful scrutiny measures will apply before issuing cards.
- Cardholders on extended TDY should be able to file a supplemental or accrual voucher at least every 30 days. This will allow them to obtain reimbursement even though they haven't completed their official travel. Even if their official travel is performed at a location where no disbursing facility exists, they should be able to transmit vouchers via fax to their headquarters location. If extenuating circumstances exist that preclude submission of a supplemental voucher, the cardholder will need to notify NationsBank so that the account may be kept active. NationsBank will work with individuals who are experiencing difficulty paying their accounts in a timely manner. The split-disbursement program for AMEX will be discontinued Oct. 1 and will begin Dec. 1 for NationsBank.

- ATM cash withdrawal with the NationsBank card is to be used for official travel only. Travelers will be reimbursed for service charges and transaction fee. The new transaction fee will be 1.9 percent vs. 2.75 percent with AMEX. Effective June 1, DA has reduced retail/cash limits Army wide to $100 per month. There are a few cases where this $100 retail limit can affect legitimate use of the travel card.

a. Conference/seminar registration fees. Using the travel card for this purpose is permitted but is not recommended, since the transaction is processed immediately by AMEX and often appears on the cardholder's billing statement before they receive (or even file for) reimbursement. To avoid this adverse impact on the cardholder, activities should pay for these fees, wherever possible, by using the IMPAC purchase card. Other, less preferred methods of payment include the DD Form 1556 (Request, Authorization, Agreement and Certification of Training and Reimbursement) and the Standard Form 1034 (Public Voucher for Purchases and Services Other Than Personal). When the travel card is used for this purpose, the fees often exceed the current $500 monthly limit, but APC can call AMEX will continue to grant these temporary increases under the new $100 monthly limit.

b. Airport parking. Most airport parking falls under the "automotive" category, which is considered travel-related and is therefore uncapped. Some airport parking, however, is coded as "retail" and could be affected by the new $100 monthly limit. AMEX has agreed to temporarily increase the retail limit for this purpose, if cardholders request it.

c. Convenience stores that sell gas. All of the major oil companies are coded as "automotive," and these charges are not subject to a monthly limit. A few convenience store chains that also sell gas are coded as "retail" (e.g., 7-11, Circle K, etc.), but legitimate travel card purchases from these merchants should rarely exceed $100. If they do, the cardholder has the option of going to another gas station. AMEX will not grant temporary increases in the new $100 monthly limit for this purpose.

To facilitate the transition, supervisors must remind delinquent cardholders to pay their bills upon receive of the statement. Those delinquent, 60 days or more, will be turned over to collection agencies by AMEX. Accounts that are canceled at 120 days because of delinquency will be reported to a credit bureau. Cardholders must meet their financial obligations. Therefore, individuals with government travel card must act in a responsible manner with regards to their personal financial responsibilities to pay their government charge card bill promptly.

NationsBank will be conducting background credit checks on new travel card applicants after Dec. 1, on current cardholders that are 69 days or more delinquent as of Aug. 1, and cardholders with canceled cards. Management retains the option to issue or deny a card to individuals rejected by NationsBank, otherwise individuals will receive a card. Cards can be restricted (turned on and off) for individuals with credit or delinquent problems.

PUBLIC NOTICE of Water Quality Failure

(California Code of Regulations, Title 22, Section 64464.3(a)(1))

Former Fort Ord / Presidio of Monterey Annex Water System

(System Number 2710701)

a) Explanation of the Violation

The Presidio of Monterey Annex operates the former Fort Ord water system according to federal and state regulations. These require routine testing of drinking water wells for presence of chemicals for which water quality standards or Maximum Contaminant Levels are established by United States Environmental Protection Agency and California Department of Health Services. Water delivered to consumers must not contain contaminants at levels exceeding MCL.

The POM Directorate of Environmental and Natural Resources Management sampled drinking water wells 29, 30 and 31 on June 11 for various chemicals. Testing results indicated presence of chromium in Well 30 above MCL. To confirm this result, DENR sampled Well 30 again on July 16. The sample analysis results are shown below:

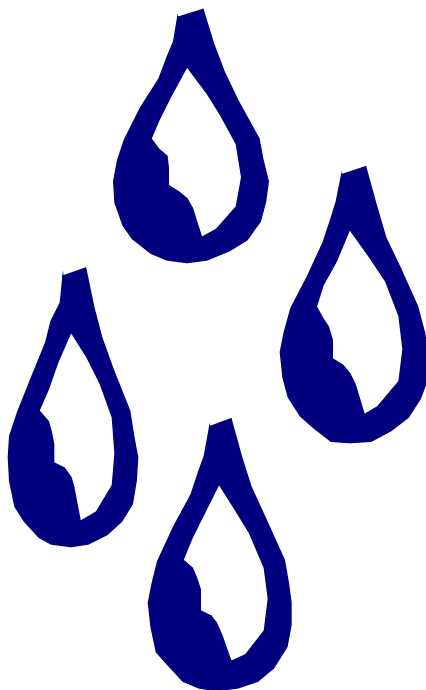

Well 30 Sample Results - Chromium

Sample Date	Result	MCL
June 11	0.13 ppm	0.05 ppm
July 1	0.011 ppm	0.05 ppm

* ppm: parts per million, equivalent of milligrams per liter

So far, DENR hasn't identified any source of chromium contamination. For the state drinking water monitoring program, any analytical result less than the detection limit for reporting, or DLR, of 0.01 ppm DLR is indicated as Non-Detect. The June testing results for Wells 29 and 31 were below MCL and DLR. The repeat July 17 sample for Well 30 indicated a level much lower than MCL, consistent with the levels found in Wells 29 and 31. Also, chromium content in a sample taken from the distribution system close to a customer tap on July 17 was less than DLR.

However, state regulations require that the average of initial and repeat sample results be used to determine compliance with MCL. Since the average of the two chromium sample results is 0.071 ppm and exceeds the MCL, the former Fort Ord / POM Annex water system is required by the state regulations to notify the public of this occurrence.

THIS PUBLIC NOTICE IS PUBLISHED SOLELY TO COMPLY WITH CALIFORNIA CODE OF REGULATIONS (CCR), TITLE 22, SECTION 64464.3(a)(1). THERE IS NO ACTUAL HEALTH RISK TO PUBLIC RESULTING FROM THIS OCCURRENCE.

(b) Potential Adverse Health Effects of Chromium (CCR Title 22, Section 64468.1(f))

"The California Department of Health Services (DHS) sets drinking water standards and has determined that chromium is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. This inorganic metal occurs naturally in the ground and is often used in the electroplating of metals. It generally gets into water from runoff from old mining operations and improper waste disposal from plating operations. Some humans who were exposed to high levels of this chemical suffered liver and kidney damage, dermatitis and respiratory problems. DHS has set the drinking water standard for chromium at 0.05 parts per million to protect against the risk of these adverse health effects. Drinking water that meets the DHS standard is associated with little to none of this risk and considered safe with respect to chromium."

(c) Corrective Measures / Required Actions

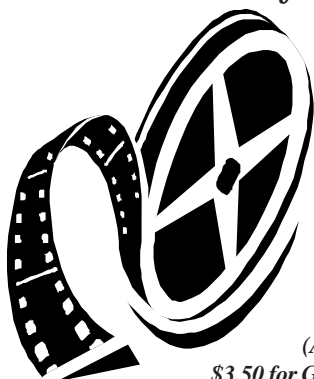

DENR will increase the monitoring frequency for Well 30 to quarterly to confirm the actual level of chromium in the ground water. It is unlikely that a chromium contamination is actually present in the ground water used to supply drinking water to the former Fort Ord. There is no need to seek an alternative source of water at this time.

(d) For More Information Contact Ms. Chieko Nguyen of DENR Environmental Management Division at (831) 899-7372. For health effects questions, call Rick Michael of California Medical Detachment Preventive Medicine Unit at (831) 242-7585. CDHS Drinking Water Field Operations Branch is available at (510) 540-3589.

Tips for Spending Less

If you think there's no way you can cut back on your spending, think again!

Saving money by spending less isn't brain surgery, but it does take discipline. The main ideas are: shop whenever possible on sale, deal or discount; buy value, not price; take care of the things you own; be especially careful on large purchases; never buy on impulse, always plan your purchases; compare prices whenever possible and pinch pennies — they soon become dollars.

Saving category: Food and Groceries

- Use a shopping list based on menus. Forget impulse shopping or just wandering the aisles! Check your cupboards and refrigerator before shopping to make sure you don't buy what you already have.
- In your list, include items that are in season and check the store circular for specials.
- Try house brands or generic brands. Their quality may surprise you.
- Never shop when you're hungry! You buy more.
- Always compare unit prices. Those little white stickers help you sort "deals" from "heels."

- Cut out use of convenience foods, such as frozen dinners, vegetables, or entrees. Cooking from scratch is cheaper.
- Make food shopping a weekly affair. Avoid "fill-in" trips during the week just to make sure you have everything.
- Be creative and use leftovers. Don't waste a thing.
- Make sure your store checkout person is alert and accurate. If in doubt about any item, be sure to check the tape.
- Buy larger cuts and sizes. Divide them up into packages when you get home and freeze them.
- Be creative with ingredients. Try turkey chili or vegetarian chili.
- Grow your own herbs — all you need is a small garden.
- Remember, you may use coupons in the commissary.
- Even with coupons, other brands may still be cheaper. Always compare.
- It's usually more economical to buy beverages by the case.
- Make your own baby food. All you need is a blender or food processor. It may also be healthier since it cuts down on salt and preservatives.
- Shop quickly. Shop alone. The more time you take, the more you'll spend. Bringing children and spouse along on the trip will add impulse items to the cart.

Chapter 34/30 converters would see their rates increase to $716 monthly, up from $627.85, or a total of $25,776 versus $22,602.60. For MGIB-selected Reserve trainees (chapter 1606), monthly rates advance from $208.93 to $251, or a total of $9,036 from $7,521.48.
